

Rutgers School of Environmental and Biological Sciences

Office of Special Programs

Alumni Panel

2 August 2008

Jamie Betancourt A 2006 SEBS graduate, with a Bachelor of Science in Animal Science/Equine Science, Jamie is now a Graduate Research Assistant with the NJ Latino Antibiotic Resistance Project and a graduate student in a MPH (Master's in Public Health) program at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey (UMDNJ). As an undergraduate, Jamie was a Resident Assistant in the academic year, as well as the Summer Institute. He was involved with the Leadership program, Community Service Committee, and the Pilot-Me Mentorship Program. He was also selected to participate in the Yale Summer Undergraduate Research Fellowship Program. He has a two year old cat and a six year old sister and volunteers at the University Hospital – NJ Trauma Center.

Vipul Chokshi Vipul is a Compliance Analyst who graduated from Cook College in January 2000, with a Bachelor of Science in Environmental and Business Economics. As an undergraduate, he was a bank teller for Old Queens Student Federal Credit Union and a member of the Environmental & Business Economics Club. He is recently married and enjoys traveling, skiing, & watching movies.

Lunedt Gonzalez Lunedt graduated from Cook College in 2004, with honors and a Bachelor of Science in Biological Sciences. After Rutgers, she studied at Yale University, in the Post-baccalaureate Research Experience Program (PREP) and at the University of Massachusetts. She is recently married and the mother of a baby girl, Camilla.

Nicole Gordon Nicole graduated in 2007, with a Bachelor of Science in Biological Sciences. She was a member of MECCA, the Alpha Zeta Honors Fraternity, and the Cook College Leadership- Diversity Committee. She is presently an Emergency Medical Technician (EMT), which she says is exciting and affords the opportunity for her to learn something new every day. She is a volunteer the local ambulance corps and a leader and mentor for the Youth Development Network at her church.

Rutgers School of Environmental and Biological Sciences

Office of Special Programs

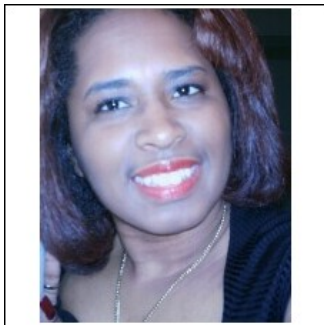

Alumni Panel

2 August 2008

Sabrina Nelson

Sabrina has a Bachelor of Science in Communication (2004), from Cook College and is presently a graduate student in Organization Leadership, at Rider University. She is also the Special Projects Manager at the Governor's Office of Volunteerism. She is a first time dog owner who enjoys reading and exploring different aspects of the arts.

Veronica Odio

A 2004 Cook College graduate (Human Ecology with Public Policy option), Veronica was involved as an undergraduate with the Cook College Leadership Program. She is now a Supervising Family Service Specialist for Division of Youth and Family Services (DYFS) in New Jersey. Her hobbies include traveling, shopping, dancing, going to plays/opera, and writing poetry. She urges you to know: "You can do just about anything if you put your mind and will into it."

Nicole Warden

Nicole is a Senior Customer Service Coordinator at the Ethical Pet corporation, where she likes the work because she is never bored! She has a Bachelor of Science in Environmental and Business Economics (1993) from Cook College, where she was involved in Intramural sports and the campus Leadership Program. She is the guardian of her teenage niece, and a Cheerleading Coach/Cheer Mom for Irvington Pop Warner Football. She enjoys reading and knows: "You can achieve all things, if you believe in yourself."

Kwabena Yamoah

With a MPA from Kean University and a Bachelor of Science (2001) in Exercise Science and Sports Studies/Psychology, Kwabena Yamoah is currently a Program Analyst with the US Department of Justice, International Criminal Investigative Training Assistance Program. What he likes most about his work is that he travels the world and is able to review classified government material. He volunteers in the marriage ministry at Lincoln gardens Baptist Church. His hobbies include reading and playing basketball. He also has a front row seat to

Review of Economic and Financial Crimes Training

Rutgers School of Environmental and Biological Sciences

Office of Special Programs

Alumni Panel

2 August 2008

Activity in Tanzania with Prevention and Combating of Corruption Bureau

Rutgers women's basketball games, since he is married to Rutgers Women's Assistant Basketball Coach, Tasha Pointer.